
International Security Studies

International Security Studies

The programme reflects the multidisciplinary dimension of contemporary security studies but is firmly rooted in the international political aspects of the field. In the programme's core module, students will be acquainted with traditional and critical concepts of security, theories of international relations and standard quantitative and qualitative methodologies. They will then take five thematic core courses in strategic studies, regional security studies, security and technology, European and transatlantic security and conflict studies. From each thematic pool, they will also be able to take additional elective courses to deepen their knowledge and skills in chosen areas of interest. For more information see <http://dsec.fsv.cuni.cz/KBS-15.html> .